A good candidate will have the following skills:

- A good command of English
- A strong background in mathematics
- A good knowledge of machine learning, statistics and algorithms
- Preferably some knowledge on distributed systems and cryptography
- Some experience with implementation and experimentation